

Lot 1 Judds Creek Road Judbury TAS

This 8 acre parcel of native bush has an elevated position in the hills of Judbury. An access is formed up the length of the West boundary, with tracks going off into the property at different points. The first one leads to a part formed house site, a great position for your new home. Although 100% bush, under the Eucalypts the vegetation is light which allows for good vision over the property and ease to explore. There is some further clearing required though for the house site, to comply with fire safety regulations, this would also create a more open view down over the valley and to the Huon River. There is power, phone and town water supply at the road boundary. The Judbury Bridge is just a few hundred metres down the road, where there is a community park right next to the river. Try your hand at catching trout or simply enjoy the pristine environment that makes this area so special. Please contact us for further information or to arrange an inspection.
