The land is approximately half pasture and half bush, and with a bit of fern slashing the pasture could once again sustain good stock levels. It is at the end of a no through road and a big bonus is that the land is on two separate titles allowing you to build a second residence stca. The views are understated in the photos and have to be seen to be believed. The solar and wind generators power up the battery banks which provide 240 volts to the house. Inside the open plan living area with classic timber kitchen there is
